

Johnston Cultural and Community Events

Because students' interests guide our community life, we are always discovering new ways to live, learn, and play together. Here are some examples of recent community activities and events. In addition to these, Johnston students participate in Student Life events, Student Government, Greek Life, Sports, CDI events, etc.

IRA - The Integrated Reading Association chooses a book to read each semester and meets weekly to discuss it.

GYST - Get Your Sh*t Together happens every semester. It's a chance to think intentionally about academics, community life, and general wellbeing. In the fall, we go camping!

Discotheque - DJs take note! A manifestation of the recent interest in electronic music among Johnston students.

Johnny Cash Day - An annual music festival held on Bekins Lawn. And, a chance to wear black.

Buffest - An annual spring music festival featuring Johnston musicians and bands as well as invited performers. And, there's usually a bouncy slide.

Johnston Art Show - Most years a Johnston senior curates a community art show. This includes visual and performing art by students, faculty, and community members.

Mentone Special - A Johnston multimedia zine. Satire on demand.

RMH - The Redlands Media House is a collective that runs an online home for electronic music and video production by Johnston students.

Film Screenings - Johnston students regularly screen movies.

Race on Campus Conference - An opportunity for campus activists from Southern California campuses to gather and talk shop.

Open Mic - Night-time Java hosts open mic nights several times during the year.

Buffalo Writing Collective - This group of creative writers runs a workshop each semester.

Buffalo Food Collective - The buffalo food collective makes Friday night dinners on a theme. They often invite faculty or staff members to join.

Stitch and Bitch - Knitting is a great way to relieve stress and get through epic community meetings.

Gaming Collective - They meet. They play games.

Meditation/Yoga - Students regularly facilitate meditation and yoga in our meditation room.
