SCHOLARSHIP DETAILS

Participants will receive partial scholarships to support completion of either the:

- Master of Arts in Learning and Teaching (MALT), leading to a Mild-Moderate Support Needs (MMSN) Education Specialist Credential OR the
- Master of Science (MS) in Communication Sciences and Disorders (CDIS), leading to a Speech-Language Pathology (SLP) Credential, ASHA SLP certification, and California SLP license.

Project Transdisciplinary Educational and Multicultural/Multilingual Approaches for Teaching Elementary Students Language & Literacy (TEAMMATES-LL) scholars enrolled in either program will receive specialized training in implementing scientifically based and culturally responsive language and literacy assessments and interventions with children in local elementary schools, with an emphasis on family and community engagement.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

- We welcome applications from all students of all backgrounds, and candidates from racially minoritized backgrounds, such as Black and Latinx, are encouraged to apply. Candidates with bilingual and/or bidialectal skills (in Spanish or African American Vernacular) are especially encouraged to apply. University of Redlands is a federally designated Hispanic Serving Institution and is committed to promoting best practices in diversity, equity and inclusion for all community members
- Applicants must be committed to supporting language and literacy development in elementary-school students with special instructional needs
- Once accepted into either the MALT-MMSN or the MS-CDIS programs, applicants will apply for Project TEAMMATES-LL and participate in an interview process.
- Candidates will commit to a three-year (MMSN) or four-year (CDIS) minimum service obligation of employment in a public school district within San Bernardino or Riverside counties, following the completion of the program.

University of Redlands honors the original and continued caretakers of the Redlands area, the Yuhaviatam (Serrano) and Cahuilla, through land acknowledgement. We have taken a pledge to honor native land in all programming and activities.
